

Hear what members of Nottingham Partners think about their membership and being part of the organisation.

Gleeds originally joined Nottingham Partners as a result of a long standing relationship we have with Invest in Nottingham. The relationship led to the late, great Jim Taylor inviting me to be on the board of Nottingham Means Business. It was an opportunity that I jumped at, to be able to work collaboratively with influential business leaders to promote Nottingham as a destination and a city within which to do great business. As the brand developed into Nottingham Partners it was a no-brainer for Gleeds to continue its involvement.

There are many benefits of being part of Nottingham Partners, but fundamentally if the city is doing well the businesses located within it can only benefit. Nottingham Partners strives to futureproof the economic prosperity of the city. The relationships that are developed help to drive local opportunities, with like minded people who have the wellbeing and future legacy of the city at the heart of their strategic thinking.

Jon Enever, Chief Client Officer, Gleeds

We are delighted to support Nottingham Partners. It continues to help us connect with a wide range of exciting and innovative organisations, that will ultimately define the future of the city over the decade ahead.

Paul Norbury, Office Senior Partner PWC

By being a member, we gain access to good local events that are very professionally run with some great speakers. These events are always good for networking and catching up with friends in the local business community, as well as key figures in the public sector. The professional nature of the events means that we are proud to be connected to these as sponsors.

Neil Harrison, Associate Director, Arup

The connections and conversations that take place at Nottingham Partners events are a valuable addition to the business and construction industry community in our city.

John Read, Associate Director, Arup

Paragon Law have been members of Nottingham Partners since 2012. Our membership has proved to be beneficial in many ways, for example, I particularly enjoy the lunches which gives me the opportunity to meet with likeminded business owners and professionals in Nottingham. There is always a good range of guest speakers who tend to be leaders in their field giving insights on their industry and sector – a great way to learn about matters outside of one’s own day to day “bubble”.

Nottingham Partners are particularly good at bringing people who are involved shaping the direction of the city and give members the opportunity to shape and debate the direction around this. Like any organisation or networking group you will get what you put in to Nottingham Partners.

Thal Vasishta, Group Chief Executive Officer, Paragon Law

cpmg is a longstanding member of Nottingham Partners, having joined in 2012, we joined because we are a Nottingham based business, we like it here and we wanted to be a part of an organisation that is dedicated to ensuring that Nottingham continues to thrive.

Richard Flisher, Managing Director, CPMG

Attending the networking events is a must for us. The topics presented at the lunch are always relevant to the local business community and promote networking in a relaxed and positive environment. We have many clients and prospective clients who are members and more recently, have gained a number of new suppliers directly through the networking events. We will be sponsoring our second lunch this year and will be looking to make this part of our annual plan going forward.

Stephen Mason, Managing Director, Mason Infotech

Nottingham Partners raises Nottingham’s business profile and puts the spotlight on all the great work happening and planned to happen in our city. We feel it is important as a Nottingham business to be a part of this.

Nadia Rizk, Director, RizkMcCay